

Global Supply Chain Management Major
Intern / Full Time Job Search Tips
September 6, 2019
Dr. John C. Taylor

1. Go to the SCM Major web page at www.business.wayne.edu/gscm and make sure you are familiar with all buttons/resources on our web page.
2. Make sure you have emailed Prof. Sisk a .doc file of your resume. Ideally name it in following format “LastNameInternGradDec14 032213.doc” or substitute “Fulltime.” Initially a resume showing an internship objective, and then as you get about 7 months out from graduation, one showing a full time position objective. See the web page for a sample. Resume should be one page, show a simple Objective, Supply Chain Management Major and any second major, GPA overall (and in Bus School if higher than overall), expected graduation month/year, work experience, and special skills (like SAP training, certifications, testing, etc). References available upon request. Make sure you have a revision date on the bottom right so I know which is latest version. Make sure there is a good phone number/answering machine and email address that you check regularly.
3. Make sure to spend some time on the SCM web page. Read the SCM Career Guide with lots of information.
4. Join the SCMA Student Association and attend all the Company Information events and other great events.
5. Go to Professional Associations like Transportation Club of Detroit, Detroit Intermodal Association, Association of Supply Chain management, Council of Supply Chain Management Professionals , Institute of Supply Management national and local chapter web pages and print membership directory and/or officers and send cover letters / resume to interesting members/officers.
6. If SCMA is doing a resume book make sure to get your correct internship or full time resume, fully updated, in time for resume book mailing to SCMA. Pay attention to email requests on this.
7. Attend Detroit area Professional Association meetings to network and get your name out. See above in 4) for some examples and see our Career Brochure on web page for other examples.
8. Consider starting one of the SCM related certification programs to be shown soon shown on the web page. Search for these on CSCMP web page at www.cscmp.org. Even if you just take the first exam, or begin it, you can put this on your resume and help make it stand out.
9. Become a Council of Supply Chain Management (CSCMP) or Institute of Supply Management (ISM) or Association of SCM student member at www.cscmp.org and www.ism.ws and <https://www.apics.org/apics-for-individuals/careers-resources/career-center> and use their job boards.
10. Go to CSCMP Members Only Membership Directory and print off addresses for senior executives at a company (ies) you are interested in and send cover letter / resume. Must join first to have access. Same may be possible for ISM.

11. Go to meetings of local auto related associations like OESA and AIAG. See announcements of some of these.
12. Go to CSCMP Members section and download Executive Recruiter guide. Find ones that are $35,000 + and mail resume to them. Even though they do not focus on “entry level” they may know of companies that need entry level and add your resume to a set and place a note with it.
13. Go to CSCMP Member’s Career Connections and upload your profile/resume. Both internship and full time. ISM also may have similar Career Board.
14. Go to GSCMP Members Career Connections and check the list of all jobs and apply on-line. Even if it’s for positions requiring experience (most of these) apply anyway. They may consider part time/internship jobs to be prior experience, or consider you for an entry level position not posted.
15. Meet with WSU SBA Career Services and get your resume approved. They may want a different style than one I advocate so do both. Register and put resume on-line at Handshake web page and monitor for interview opportunities, company open houses, job fairs, etc. This should be closely monitored. We increasingly are routing employers through Business School Career Center and Handshake. Do Handshake searches under “Logistics,” “Purchasing,” and “Supply Chain Management.”
16. Investigate LinkedIn Jobs social Media Site at the following really good URL: http://www.linkedin.com/job/consumer/jobsHome?trk=rj\_em\_sm&trk=&fromEmail=&ut=1bZTUxfKE8zC41 – search under “supply chain” and “logistics” and “purchasing.” – of course you need to be set up in LinkedIn.
17. Go to all WSU University, Business School (September and February generally) career fairs.
18. Attend the SCM Career Reception event the B-School SCM Program hosts in September and March with typically 30 companies.
19. Go on general and SCM specific job boards like Monster.com and register / put resume up. We have had students land great jobs from Monster. Also CareerBuilder.Com under Logistics. Also try Journal of Commerce Job Board at http://logisticscareercenter.joc.com/home/index.cfm?site\_id=9329 and www.JobsInLogistics.com and try www.jobsinmotion.com
20. Check newspapers like Detroit News and Detroit Free Press, Crain’s Detroit Business, etc. for stories on new companies, companies expanding, new VP of Logistics or SCM or Distribution. Get company phone number and get address and send that person a letter saying you saw the article on them, are a student graduating from WSU, looking for full time position or internship, etc.
21. Read national SCM trade magazines and find articles about mergers, new businesses, new Vice President SCM and call the company to get their address and title and send resume/cover letter saying you saw the article as your introduction paragraph. Most mags have a section at back re new appointments or “people changing jobs.”
22. Dr. Taylor/Prof. Sisk send out a lot of emails about internship/fulltime opportunities. Make sure you are paying attention to your WSU registered email address. Follow up on these emails as suggested. Make sure your WSU email is forwarding if you use a different one and make sure it is set to delete from the WSU email once forwarded or it will stop forwarding once your WSU email is full.

23. Make sure you pay attention to phone answering machine and email on your resume. Dr. Taylor often sends out resumes to companies that inquire about students. They often contact you directly and you need to be able to respond quickly. Make sure no strange answering machine messages.
24. Make sure you have a SCM related internship, full time or part time, preferably paid, at least once before you graduate.
