School of Business

Warriors Business Community
Big university, small community

The first 40 newly admitted fall 2017 freshman business majors to join the Warriors Business Community can earn up to $1,500 in tuition money!

Start building your network now as a resident of the Mike Ilitch School of Business Warriors Business Community (WBC), located on the fourth floor of Ghafari Hall. The WBC offers an opportunity for a cohort of business students to live, learn and develop professional connections together right here on Wayne State's campus in the heart of Midtown Detroit.

The WBC encourages community involvement, supports academic success and provides a fun atmosphere for Ilitch School students to form lasting relationships with other future professionals, as well as current business leaders throughout metro Detroit.

Advantages to joining the WBC include:

- Onsite advising and planning
- Academic and professional workshops
- Improv training to improve decision making skills
- Study groups and tutoring
- Peer support from upper-level business students
- Increased student/faculty interaction
- Service learning opportunities
- Friendly competitions and contests
- Networking events, job shadowing and company tours

To apply, simply choose the WBC on your online housing application (housing.wayne.edu). If you have already completed your application, you can update your preference by contacting Heather Laskos at 313-577-4510 or heather.laskos@wayne.edu. Space is limited.
